

Small-business loans discussed on WCA and Community Capital NY Facebook Live

David McKay Wilson, Rockland/Westchester Journal News

Published 10:36 a.m. ET March 26, 2020 | Updated 3:04 p.m. ET March 26, 2020

The Westchester County Association and Community Capital New York streamed a Facebook Live event Thursday about loan programs for small-business owners strapped for cash during the coronavirus crisis.

Kim Jacobs, executive director of Elmsford-based Community Capital New York, hosted the informational session on the Westchester County Association's Facebook page. She was joined by WCA President Michael Romita at the event.

Westchester County Association President Michael Romita, left, will join CCNY Executive Director Kim Jacobs on March 26, 2020 at 2 p.m. for a Facebook Live discussion of small business loans on WCA's Facebook page. (Photo: David McKay Wilson)

Jacobs provided details on CCNY's emergency micro-loan program as well as the US Small Business Administration loan programs for local companies.

WATCH: WCA Facebook video on small-business loan programs

GEORGE LATIMER:On coronavirus, economy: 'Mass death is bad for business'

HELP: Gannett launches site for small businesses

STRUGGLING: Small businesses having tough time in New Rochelle

NO DEAL: Westchester County Association calls off merger

Follow Tax Watch columnist David McKay Wilson on Facebook or Twitter @davidmckay415.